3. Scope Of Works/Technical Specifications

3.1 BACKGROUND

The South African National Energy Development Institute (SANEDI) was established in 2011 as an agency of the Department of Energy. The National Energy Act, 2008 (Act No. 34 of 2008), Section 7 (2) gave effect to SANEDI's existence and provides for its primary mandate and specific responsibilities. The Act provides for SANEDI to direct, monitor and conduct energy research and development, promote energy research and technology innovation as well as undertake measures to promote energy efficiency throughout the economy. The Department of Mineral Resources and Energy mandated its agency, SANEDI to implement, monitor and evaluate the South African Energy Efficiency Appliance Standards and Labelling (S&L) Programme. The main aim of the S&L Programme is to promote the use of energy efficient household appliances by conducting energy efficiency research to inform policy so that inefficient appliances can be removed from the South African market.

The Minister of the DMRE has put regulations in place that requires all regulated appliances sold in South Africa meet Minimum Energy Performance Standards (MEPS). The S&L Programme ensures that consumers purchase appliances that meet MEPS by creating Energy Efficiency Label awareness and education. The Energy Efficiency Label is a consumer education tool designed to provide consumers with accurate and comparable information on the energy efficiency of household appliances, equipment and lighting products. One of the key features found on the Energy Efficiency Label is the Energy Consumption (kWh/cycle) of the appliance, the feature makes it easier for consumers to know how much it will cost to run the appliance.

During the 2022/23 financial year, the S&L Programme initiated store activations where promoters were assigned to various appliance stores across Gauteng. The purpose of this initiative was to educate consumers on how to interpret the Energy Efficiency Label so that they can make informed decisions before making electric and electronic appliance purchases. The campaign ensures that retail store promoters are trained and deployed to stores to educate consumers on how using the EE label can save them on their monthly electricity bill. Through previous promotional efforts, it is reported that the majority of the consumers engaged know of the label but do not know how to interpret the data points provided on the illustration. When consumers are informed about the label and use it to purchase energy efficient appliances, the demand on the supply grid is reduced.

Due to the success and impact of previous store activations rolled out in the economic hub of South Africa, SANEDI's Energy Efficiency Appliance Standards and Labelling Programme is expanding the public education effort into a nation-wide retail campaign of store activations for public and retail staff education and capacity building. A large percentage of the customers engaged gave feedback they will start using the energy efficiency label before selecting an appliance to purchase, so the label is proven to be an effective communication tool. Another key data point confirmed from the surveys is that a vast majority of appliance consumers depend on the power supplied by Eskom and they use pre-paid meters.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

To educate the public (through promotions) and retail staff (through SANEDI-led training workshops) about the Energy Efficiency Label and on how to interpret the Label so that informed decisions can be made for the purchasing of regulated electrical and electronic appliances.

To increase awareness of the use of energy efficient appliances to all the consumers in the country regardless of their race, gender, age and economic status.

To educate the public on how they can save on their electricity bill when they purchase energy efficient appliances. This will also result in government meeting its targeted goal of reducing electricity consumption in the residential sector.

3.2 SCOPE OF WORK

The service provider must provide the following services proposed a promotions and retails staff training approach including the following considerations:

1. Service Provider's Project Team to consist of a Project Leader (Manage the Project), Media and Community Liaison (Stakeholder engagement and social media), Administrator (reporting and
2. Hire unemployed youth (ages 18 – 35) from diverse races to work as promoters over a 5 month period. The promoters must be professional; have good time management, good English proficiency; Speak at least one other South African language (used mostly in the area where they will be appointed to promote, for example some Zulu speaking promoters will be impactful in stores located in the KZN Province); Good interpersonal skills; good team work; Minimum qualification – National senior certificate/ Matric, advantage if a tertiary student studying engineering/energy/environmental/communication/marketing studies is appointed.
3. Identify a minimum of three (3) major and (2) minor electronic retail stores in each province, where store activations will take place mid-month and month-end Saturdays. It is preferred that varying chain store brands be approached for diversity of the target market. The total minimum target for nation-wide activations is 50 stores to be impacted by the end of February 2024.
4. Ensure the availability of all promoters for a 1 hour Microsoft Teams training to be delivered by SANEDI on the EE label. 9 Calls can be scheduled to train a maximum of 10 promoters for each province. All promoters are to be declared competent before being deployed to appliance retail stores. This will be done through a quiz that SANEDI will develop.

5. Use artwork from SANEDI for the local printing of the necessary promotional materials for each province- which include: Fridge magnetic note pads with EE label explainer and pen (unit price estimated at R30.00) to be distributed to public consumers visiting stores and engaging promoters, Branded T-shirts for promoters to wear during activations (unit price estimated at R20.00), z-fold flyers (unit price estimated at R3.00). See picture references below:

6. The promotion company is expected to do monthly reporting. The S&L team will arrange a monthly virtual meeting where the service provider will share the progress of the project and highlight areas where they need assistance. The service provider will be required to submit project progress report monthly and a final report at the end of the project. The report to include but not limited to:
 - Project introduction and status
 - Detailed scope of work and progress
 - Results and findings from monthly activations. Promoters must capture data for each person they engage with (data to include: i.e. age, race, employment status, province, whether EE label impacts their purchasing decision, other key data points can be proposed or gathered)
 - Where graphs and illustrations are used, a detailed paragraph explaining the illustration should be included
 - Lessons learned and recommendations for future activations
 - Pictures of promoters engaging consumers in stores
7. Professional photography and videographer should be used to take pictures and videos of campaign activities to be used for reporting, social media and promotional purposes. The content created and supplied will be the property of SANEDI.
8. Create a social media content calendar to correspond with the planned activations for increased awareness of the nation-wide promotional effort. SANEDI may request pictures and videos of live promotions to be shared on all saving energy social media pages as per the content calendar submitted by the appointed service provider and approved by SANEDI. The sharing of social media content will be the responsibility of the SANEDI Project Management Unit.

9. Coordinate 1.5 hour training workshops for the retail staff of each store that agrees to the training proposal for their staff (target is a minimum of 50 stores), this training can be done before stores open i.e. between 07:00-09:00, the appointed service provider to provide individually wrapped muffins/breakfast for attendees. A room where a projector can be set up is key and should be organized between the retail manager and the appointed service provider. SANEDI project team will provide training and the associated material, travel with portable projection equipment. A training roadshow roster will have to be developed by the appointed service provider to enable planning and logistics. All travel and accommodation for SANEDI staff will be the responsibility of SANEDI.
10. It is the responsibility of the appointed service provider to ensure that the store activations and retail staff trainings workshops run smoothly in all the nine provinces on the allocated days and timeslots. A member of the appointed service provider's team should be present for retail staff training to receive SANEDI team, facilitate introductions and ensure seamless proceedings during training.
11. All unutilized training material and apparel should be couriered to SANEDI offices at the close of the project to eliminate waste of resources, as these materials can be used by SANEDI for future awareness creation efforts.
12. Provide a costing of the project to be implemented over the next 5 months to include but not limited to:
 - Project Management hours
 - Design, Printing and Delivery of notebooks, flyers and T-shirts for promoters
 - Promoter costs (salaries/wages)
 - Transportation and allowances (service provider's travel, shuttle services/lunches/emergencies/insurances)
 - Marketing and Communications (Photos/videos/content calendar and creation)
 - Data collection
 - Hardware and software (i.e. tablets and software for promoters to capture data)
 - Reporting
 - Shipping costs
