Work specification (and Technical specifications)	1. Project Background and Purpose The Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 (POPIA), requires all organisations that process personal information to comply with specific legal obligations. To ensure compliance and mitigate legal and reputational risks, it is essential that staff members are trained on the key principles and implications of POPIA. This includes raising awareness about the rights of data subjects, the responsibilities of the organization, and the practical application of POPIA principles in daily operations
Scope of Works	2. Project scope SANEDI seeks to appoint a service provider to provide POPIA Training to approximately 80 people. The training aims to: • Provide an overview of POPIA and its relevance to the organization. • Educate employees on key definitions, principles, and requirements under the Act. • Explain the roles of Information Officers and the rights of data subjects. • Highlight the risks and penalties associated with non-compliance. • Provide guidance on handling personal information responsibly and securely. • Foster a culture of data privacy within the organization.

3. Deliverables

3.1. The training will cover:

- Introduction to POPIA and its objectives.
- Key concepts: personal information, data subject, processing, consent, etc.
- The conditions for lawful processing.
- Rights of data subjects.
- Roles and responsibilities of employees and Information Officers.
- Practical measures for compliance.
- Breach notification procedures.
- Pre- and post-training assessments will be conducted to measure knowledge gain.
- Engagement and Interactivity: Use of real-life scenarios, case studies, quizzes, or simulations.
- Feedback forms will be used to evaluate training effectiveness.
- Completion records/certificates of completion.

3.2. The training may be delivered through one or more of the following methods:

- In-person workshops
- Virtual training sessions (live and recorded)
- E-learning self-paced modules
- Case studies and practical scenarios
